

URBAN JUNKIES

LONDON

Hot new British Organic range SOPHYTO has already taken the UK press by storm. Vogue and Grazia are big fans and earth mother Elle Macpherson has also just seen the light.

All-natural and Soil Association-approved, and made using apples bred specially in Hertfordshire, Sophyto's capsule collection is good enough to eat. But you probably won't want to waste a drop anywhere other than on your skin.

Word is, if you get hold of the brand's signature Polyphenol Drops and Mega Serum – or, little monodoses of skin heaven – you'll notice the difference in a matter of days.

Clearer, brighter, fresher-looking complexions guaranteed for all ages and skin types. So once you get hooked, which you will, that's it. No need to shop around. Ever again.

Sound too good to be true? Then let the products do the talking at Cult Beauty's exclusive

SOPHYTO event next week at Bloww Salon&Spa, W1., London England